Verus' report has been reformatted to reflect SCERS' new strategic asset allocation, including the Growth, Diversifying, and Real Return asset categories. Please note that new composites were added for the asset categories and several segments of the portfolio, so the performance of these segments includes only the December quarter, fiscal YTD, and since inception (Mar-17) performance for this report, without a historical track record. Verus will continue to fill in historical performance for some segments in future reports, as is feasible.

SCERS' policy index benchmark includes a blended weighted average of the individual asset class benchmarks, as defined within SCERS' Master IPS, and as shown below. Several of the asset class benchmarks are carry-over benchmarks from the prior policy index benchmark, while many have been changed as part of the implementation of the new asset allocation, including those for Private Equity, Private Credit, Absolute Return, Real Estate, and Real Assets. A comparison of the new and prior policy benchmarks is shown on the next page.

Private Equity Portfolio Returns

The SCERS Private Equity portfolio remains earlier in its investments cycle (the J-curve effect) and less seasoned, so returns over the reporting periods are lower than the benchmark period returns. In order to calculate SCERS' Total Fund return, SCERS' private equity returns are time-weighted ('TWR') rather than on a typical internal rate of return ('IRR') basis. However, Cliffwater's Alternative Asset (private equity and real assets) quarterly performance report uses an IRR calculation, which accounts for the timing of investment cash flows. The Private Equity performance will be covered in greater detail in the Cliffwater private equity report, which will be presented at the March Board meeting.

Please note that returns for SCERS' private equity portfolio is lagged one-quarter.

SCERS REAL RETURN ASSET CATEGORY RETURNS

The SCERS Real Return portfolio includes the SSgA Real Assets overlay proxy, which is used to fill the gap between SCERS' actual and target allocations within the asset category. Most of the gap between actual and target allocation is within the Real Assets asset class. As of December 31, 2017, the SSgA proxy equals $252.3 million. The SSgA proxy is a mix of publicly traded securities, including global infrastructure stocks, global natural resource stocks, Treasury Inflation Protected Securities ('TIPS'), global REITs, and midstream energy-focused master limited partnerships ('MLPs'). This proxy was restructured in January 2018, as part of the Overlay program restructure. As additional commitments are made over time, the gap will continue to decrease.

Similar to the Private Equity portfolio, the SCERS Real Assets portfolio, which includes mostly private market investments, remains early in its investments cycle (the J-curve effect) and less seasoned, so returns over the reporting periods are lower than the benchmark period returns. In addition, the Verus real estate and private real asset returns are measured on a time-weighted ('TWR') basis rather than on an internal rate of return ('IRR') basis. Please note that returns for SCERS' non-core real estate and real assets portfolio are lagged one quarter. The Real Assets performance will be covered in greater detail in the Cliffwater real assets report at the March Board meeting. Real Estate performance will be covered by Townsend, which will also be presented at the March Board meeting.

MARKET RECAP

The fourth quarter capped off a tremendous year for global financial markets. The US economy posted another year of growth, making this recovery the third longest in the post-WWII era, at nearly nine years¹. If economic growth persists through mid-2019, it will mark the longest growth period since 1945. The US economy, as measured by Gross Domestic Product (GDP), grew at a healthy 2.6% annualized rate in the quarter², though down from the 3.2% growth in the third quarter. In addition to GDP growth, other economic statistics reached significant levels in the quarter including:

- Overall unemployment rate was 4.1% throughout the quarter with weekly unemployment insurance declining to the lowest level since 1973³.
- ISM manufacturing index registered its highest reading since June 2004.
- Retail sales notched a 5.5% year over year gain during the month of December and hit a record $5.7 trillion in 2017⁴, up significantly from the pre-recession high of $4.4 trillion in 2007.

Despite continued political uncertainty making headlines, Congress managed to pass the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, which was signed into law on December 22nd. The bill marks the most significant overhaul of the tax code since 1986, with one of the signature features being the reduction of the corporate tax rate from 35% to 21%. Following the passage of the bill, 2018 earnings expectations for companies in the S&P 500 were revised upward from 11.1% to 13.1%⁵.

At its December meeting, the Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 25 basis points for the third time during 2017 to a target rate of 1.25-1.50%. General expectations are for three more rate hikes during 2018 and Fed officials raised their 2018 GDP forecast from 2.1% to 2.5%. Despite the increased interest rates and higher growth forecast, the U.S. dollar was little changed in the fourth quarter and declined 7% for the full year.

On a global basis, 179 of 192 economies in the International Monetary Fund's World Economic Outlook forecast posted economic growth last year, and the IMF forecasts 2018 will have the fewest countries in recession ever⁶. Expectations for global GDP growth have been revised upward over the past six months, led by the Eurozone and emerging markets. Year over year, economic growth in the Eurozone increased +2.6% and overall growth in the BRICs (Brazil, Russia, India, China) advanced +5.6%⁷. Overall, low and stable inflation has allowed Central Banks to maintain easy money policies providing a favorable environment to support growth.

Solid global economic data helped equity markets post significant gains in the fourth quarter of 2017. International markets, both developed and emerging, continue to lead global equity markets with the MSCI Asia Pacific +8.2% and the MSCI Emerging Markets Index up +7.4%, during the quarter. In the U.S., large cap stocks significantly outperformed small cap stocks during the quarter, with the S&P 500 up +6.6% compared to the Russell 2000 Index up +3.3%.

MSCI Emerging Markets Index	3.59	7.44	37.28	15.92	37.28

For calendar year 2017, emerging markets led the global equity rally, advancing +37.3%. Emerging markets outperformance in 2017 is a reversal of extended underperformance following the GFC and has been aided by recent currency movements, including a weakening of the U.S. dollar. Asia-Pacific equity markets advanced +31.7% for the year, ahead of the European region, which was up +25.3%. U.S. equity markets, as measured by the Russell 3000 Index, advanced +21.1% during 2017. Large cap growth stocks led the U.S. market, with the Russell 1000 Growth Index up +30.2% compared to the Russell 1000 Value Index +13.7%.

4th quarter summary

THE ECONOMIC CLIMATE

- Global growth forecasts for 2018 have been revised higher, most notably in the Eurozone. U.S. expected 2018 GDP growth is 2.6%, above the expansion average.
- The Eurozone has experienced an impressive economic recovery. In the third quarter, real GDP accelerated to 2.6%, the fastest pace of growth since 2011.
- The House and Senate agreed to a final tax bill that was signed into law by President Trump on December 22nd. The bill, formally known as the Tax Cuts & Jobs Act, represents a major overhaul of the U.S. tax system.

PORTFOLIO IMPACTS

- A synchronized pickup in global economic growth, low inflation, strong employment, and accommodative central banks should support global equities moving forward. We recommend maintaining an overweight equity position.
- Markets remain expensive by most measures. However, it is important to note the merits and flaws of various valuation metrics.

THE INVESTMENT CLIMATE

- Global equities produced strong returns over the quarter and finished the year on a positive note. Emerging market equities led the way, driven by high earnings growth and expansion of valuation multiples off of low levels.
- The outlook for U.S. equity earnings has improved further, following the signing of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. S&P 500 earnings expectations for 2018 were revised upwards from 11.1% to 13.1%.
- U.S. high yield spreads became increasingly tight. Credit premiums are near all time lows, which may warrant an underweight to U.S. credit.

ASSET ALLOCATION ISSUES

- Risk assets continue to deliver strong performance, fueled by improving fundamentals and accelerating growth. The current environment appears accommodative for further gains.
- Equity volatility is very low, helped by stable economic conditions and inflation. Historically, low volatility has indicated less risk of an equity downside event.

We believe a moderate overweight to risk is warranted

U.S. economics summary

- U.S. real GDP grew 2.3% from the previous year in Q3, the fastest pace in more than two years. Growth was driven by consumer spending, private inventory accumulation, and business investment.
- Growth in business investment has provided a material support to the economy over recent periods for the first time in the recovery. Rising domestic and external demand has influenced companies to ramp up production. Survey based measures indicate firms are planning to increase capex over the next six months.
- Core inflation rose slightly from 1.7% to 1.8% over the quarter, driven by higher shelter prices. Strong demand, higher raw material prices, and a weaker dollar may provide modest pressures on inflation, but overall levels remain low. Any material rise in inflation would likely be met by more aggressive monetary tightening than what is priced into markets.
- The U3 unemployment rate fell further from 4.2% to 4.1%, its lowest level in 17 years.
- Net job creation averaged 204,000 per month in Q3 - above the expansion average of 196,000. Despite robust job gains and low unemployment, wage growth remained modest at 2.5% YoY.
- The Fed raised interest rates for the third time this year to a target rate of 1.25-1.50%. Fed dot plots indicate three more interest rate hikes in 2018, while the market is only forecasting two. Officials noted that strong economic growth is expected to continue, and raised the 2018 GDP forecast from 2.1% to 2.5%.

International economics summary

- Economic growth advanced in the third quarter across developed and emerging markets. The United States grew at 2.3% YoY, the Eurozone improved to 2.6%, and overall growth in the BRICS nations accelerated to 5.6%. Central bank policy is still broadly accommodative, which is supportive of continued progress.
- Expectations for global GDP growth for the next two years has been revised upward in the past six months, according to the consensus estimate from Bloomberg. The upward revision to global growth forecasts were driven by the Eurozone and emerging markets.
- A pickup in lending and investment, strong external demand, and accommodative monetary policy has helped fuel an impressive economic recovery in the Eurozone. GDP grew 2.6% in Q3 from the previous year and the unemployment rate fell to 8.8%, the lowest level in nine years.
- PMIs across major markets were all above 50, indicating further expansion in the manufacturing sector.
- There are still concerns of a hard landing in China because the central bank has been tightening financial conditions on the short-end of the yield curve to reign in excessive leverage. Thus far, this process has been successful with economic growth slowing only moderately.
- Low inflation in developed economies has persisted, contributing to slower monetary tightening as central banks have been reluctant to raise rates too quickly.

Equity environment

- We maintain an overweight position to equities with a preference for emerging markets. Equity markets delivered strong returns over the quarter and were supported by robust earnings growth. Emerging markets provided outsized gains as is often the case in periods of strong economic growth.
- U.S. corporate earnings are expected to increase by 13.1% YoY in 2018 according to Factset. Expectations improved by a net 2% following the Tax Cuts & Jobs Act, which lowered the corporate tax rate from 35% to 21%, effective January 1st, 2018. Energy and Financial sectors are expected to lead in earnings with growth of 47% and 25%, respectively.
- The way businesses spend tax savings may have significant positive effects on wages, capital investment, and equity returns.

We will be monitoring this activity throughout the year.

- Equity volatility has stayed extraordinarily low. U.S. market volatility over the past year was 3.9% (S&P 500), followed by International at 4.2% (MSCI EAFE) and emerging markets at 6.5% (MSCI Emerging Markets). Low equity volatility has historically indicated less risk of an equity downside event.
- Currency movement contributed to volatility and uncertainty in international assets for investors with unhedged exposure. Recently, the U.S. dollar has weakened, creating a tailwind for unhedged performance.

Domestic equity

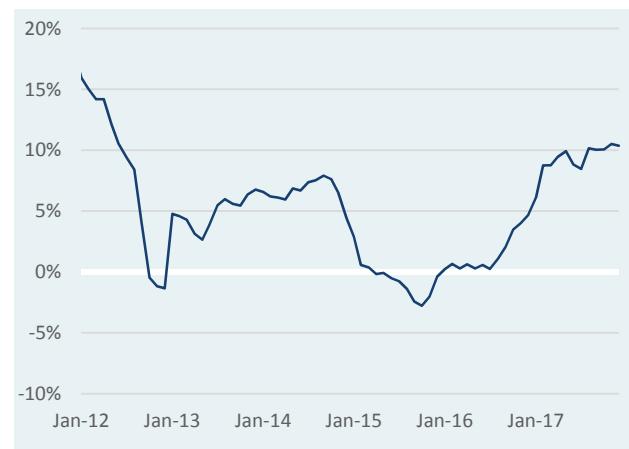

U.S. equities produced gains over the quarter (S&P 500 +6.6%), adding to record highs. Over the past year, U.S. equity performance (S&P 500 +21.8%) has lagged international developed equities (MSCI EAFE +25.0%) and emerging markets (MSCI Emerging Markets +37.3%). Performance of each equity market is in line with the degree of earnings growth – emerging markets have produced the strongest year-over-year growth and the U.S. has produced the weakest earnings growth. However, earnings growth in the U.S. has still been strong relative to history.

Domestic equity size and style

Large cap equities (Russell 1000 +6.6%) continued to outperform small cap equities (Russell 2000 +3.3%) during the quarter. Small cap stocks are very expensive relative to history based on traditional measures. It appears that a greater number of companies in the small cap universe with low or negative earnings has contributed to rising price-to-earnings multiples of the index.

Value equities underperformed growth equities over the quarter and the past year – caused by extremely positive technology sector performance (growth stocks are highly concentrated in the tech sector). Value has now underperformed on a 1-, 3-, 5-, and 10-year basis. Value stocks have underperformed over a 10-year period only twice in the past 100 years – during the great depression (1937) and during the dotcom bubble (1999). Both of these occasions were followed by an impressive bounce back in value performance.

International developed equity

International equities lagged U.S. equities during the fourth quarter as U.S. tax reform contributed to a strong domestic rally. The MSCI EAFE Index returned 4.3% (+4.0% hedged) while the S&P 500 returned 6.6%. Emerging markets continued to outperform (MSCI EM +7.4% unhedged).

Japan outperformed among developed markets, which is particularly notable when considering the pessimism baked into Japan's equity valuations. Japan generated a 12.0% return in the fourth quarter and a 25.7% return in 2017 (Nikkei 225 unhedged). Recent equity gains were fundamentally supported by earnings growth.

Currency effects added a positive 0.3% to the unhedged MSCI EAFE in Q4 (+8.9% year-to-date), as the U.S. dollar weakened slightly against a trade weighted basket of currencies.

Emerging market equity

We maintain an overweight to emerging market equities. These markets have led the way in economic growth, earnings, and equity performance. Emerging market equities delivered exceptional returns in 2017 (MSCI Emerging Markets +37.3%) relative to developed markets (MSCI ACWI +24.2%) and during the fourth quarter (7.4% vs. 4.2%).

Emerging markets have lagged the U.S. significantly since the global financial crisis, prior to the recent rotation. Emerging market currencies remain depressed relative to history, and a reversal could provide additional tailwinds to recent outperformance.

Equity multiples have risen modestly, supported by a brighter earnings outlook. As these economies evolve, it has become more difficult to refer to emerging markets as a distinct category. Different levels of economic progress, capital market development, and valuations can be witnessed across emerging market indices. Active management is typically preferred in this asset class.

Coordinated global growth has helped propel emerging market equities

Interest rate environment

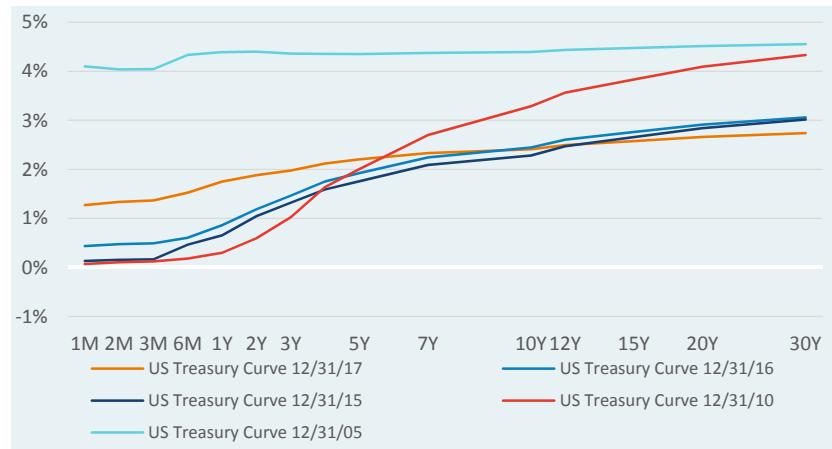

- On December 13th, the Federal Reserve raised the benchmark interest rate by 25 bps to a target range of 1.25%-1.50%. The Fed has communicated three rate hikes in 2018, while the market is pricing in only two.
- U.S. Treasury yields experienced significant increases on the short end of the curve, while longer term rates were modestly higher. The 2- and 10-year yields rose 40 bps and 8 bps, respectively. The increase in short-term rates was likely caused by the Fed raising overnight borrowing rates.
- The Fed began to reduce its balance sheet slowly. Approximately $30 billion in Treasuries and mortgage-backed securities were trimmed from the balance sheet over the quarter, which did not have a material impact on the market.
- Minutes from the ECB meeting in December showed that officials discussed additional tapering of asset purchases in early 2018 due to stronger than expected economic growth.
- Markets generally expect minimal yield rises across developed markets – between 0% and 0.3% movement over the next year in U.S., U.K., German, and Japanese sovereign bonds. However, we remain watchful of bond market reactions to balance sheet unwinding, given the unprecedented size of central bank assets.
- We remain underweight to U.S. and developed sovereign bonds (currency hedged) primarily due to low yields. It is important to keep in mind the diversification benefits that fixed income provides to the portfolio, despite near record prices.

Currency

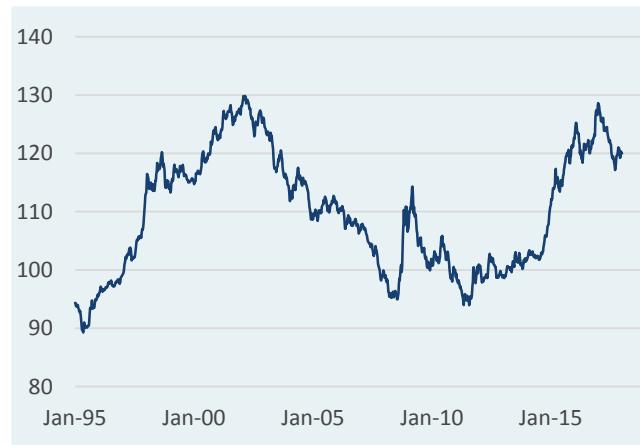

The U.S. dollar was little changed in the fourth quarter, but finished the year down 7%. Investors with unhedged international asset exposure have seen large disparities in performance as currency movement continued to contribute to volatility and uncertainty.

Recent strengthening of developed and developing economies relative to the U.S. has likely contributed to U.S. dollar weakness. The U.S. Federal Reserve is engaged in monetary tightening, which implies a stronger dollar on a standalone basis. However, U.S. growth expectations have shifted relative to international economies which has influenced exchange rates and contributed to recent U.S. dollar movement. Fluctuations in relative growth expectations implies changes in expected inflation and interest rate levels, which directly impacts the foreign exchange market.

Forecasting currency movement over short periods of time can be extremely difficult. Hedging currency risk is an appropriate method for mitigating currency volatility and uncertainty.

Glossary

Allocation Effect: An attribution effect that describes the amount attributable to the managers' asset allocation decisions, relative to the benchmark.

Alpha: The excess return of a portfolio after adjusting for market risk. This excess return is attributable to the selection skill of the portfolio manager. Alpha is calculated as: Portfolio Return - [Risk-free Rate + Portfolio Beta x (Market Return - Risk-free Rate)].

Benchmark R-squared: Measures how well the Benchmark return series fits the manager's return series. The higher the Benchmark R-squared, the more appropriate the benchmark is for the manager.

Beta: A measure of systematic, or market risk; the part of risk in a portfolio or security that is attributable to general market movements. Beta is calculated by dividing the covariance of a security by the variance of the market.

Book-to-Market: The ratio of book value per share to market price per share. Growth managers typically have low book-to-market ratios while value managers typically have high book-to-market ratios.

Capture Ratio: A statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance in up or down markets. The capture ratio is used to evaluate how well an investment manager performed relative to an index during periods when that index has risen (up market) or fallen (down market). The capture ratio is calculated by dividing the manager's returns by the returns of the index during the up/down market, and multiplying that factor by 100.

Correlation: A measure of the relative movement of returns of one security or asset class relative to another over time. A correlation of 1 means the returns of two securities move in lock step, a correlation of -1 means the returns of two securities move in the exact opposite direction over time. Correlation is used as a measure to help maximize the benefits of diversification when constructing an investment portfolio.

Excess Return: A measure of the difference in appreciation or depreciation in the price of an investment compared to its benchmark, over a given time period. This is usually expressed as a percentage and may be annualized over a number of years or represent a single period.

Information Ratio: A measure of a manager's ability to earn excess return without incurring additional risk. Information ratio is calculated as: excess return divided by tracking error.

Interaction Effect: An attribution effect that describes the portion of active management that is contributable to the cross interaction between the allocation and selection effect. This can also be explained as an effect that cannot be easily traced to a source.

Portfolio Turnover: The percentage of a portfolio that is sold and replaced (turned over) during a given time period. Low portfolio turnover is indicative of a buy and hold strategy while high portfolio turnover implies a more active form of management.

Price-to-Earnings Ratio (P/E): Also called the earnings multiplier, it is calculated by dividing the price of a company's stock into earnings per share. Growth managers typically hold stocks with high price-to-earnings ratios whereas value managers hold stocks with low price-to-earnings ratios.

R-Squared: Also called the coefficient of determination, it measures the amount of variation in one variable explained by variations in another, i.e., the goodness of fit to a benchmark. In the case of investments, the term is used to explain the amount of variation in a security or portfolio explained by movements in the market or the portfolio's benchmark.

Selection Effect: An attribution effect that describes the amount attributable to the managers' stock selection decisions, relative to the benchmark.

Sharpe Ratio: A measure of portfolio efficiency. The Sharpe Ratio indicates excess portfolio return for each unit of risk associated with achieving the excess return. The higher the Sharpe Ratio, the more efficient the portfolio. Sharpe ratio is calculated as: Portfolio Excess Return / Portfolio Standard Deviation.

Sortino Ratio: Measures the risk-adjusted return of an investment, portfolio, or strategy. It is a modification of the Sharpe Ratio, but penalizes only those returns falling below a specified benchmark. The Sortino Ratio uses downside deviation in the denominator rather than standard deviation, like the Sharpe Ratio.

Standard Deviation: A measure of volatility, or risk, inherent in a security or portfolio. The standard deviation of a series is a measure of the extent to which observations in the series differ from the arithmetic mean of the series. For example, if a security has an average annual rate of return of 10% and a standard deviation of 5%, then two-thirds of the time, one would expect to receive an annual rate of return between 5% and 15%.

Style Analysis: A return based analysis designed to identify combinations of passive investments to closely replicate the performance of funds

Style Map: A specialized form or scatter plot chart typically used to show where a Manager lies in relation to a set of style indices on a two-dimensional plane. This is simply a way of viewing the asset loadings in a different context. The coordinates are calculated by rescaling the asset loadings to range from -1 to 1 on each axis and are dependent on the Style Indices comprising the Map.

Verus will make every reasonable effort to obtain and include accurate market values. However, if managers or custodians are unable to provide the reporting period's market values prior to the report issuance, Verus may use the last reported market value or make estimates based on the manager's stated or estimated returns and other information available at the time. These estimates may differ materially from the actual value. Hedge fund market values presented in this report are provided by the fund manager or custodian. Market values presented for private equity investments reflect the last reported NAV by the custodian or manager net of capital calls and distributions as of the end of the reporting period. These values are estimates and may differ materially from the investments actual value. Private equity managers report performance using an internal rate of return (IRR), which differs from the time-weighted rate of return (TWRR) calculation done by Verus. It is inappropriate to compare IRR and TWRR to each other. IRR figures reported in the illiquid alternative pages are provided by the respective managers, and Verus has not made any attempts to verify these returns. Until a partnership is liquidated (typically over 10-12 years), the IRR is only an interim estimated return. The actual IRR performance of any LP is not known until the final liquidation.

Verus receives universe data from InvestorForce, eVestment Alliance, and Morningstar. We believe this data to be robust and appropriate for peer comparison. Nevertheless, these universes may not be comprehensive of all peer investors/managers but rather of the investors/managers that comprise that database. The resulting universe composition is not static and will change over time. Returns are annualized when they cover more than one year. Investment managers may revise their data after report distribution. Verus will make the appropriate correction to the client account but may or may not disclose the change to the client based on the materiality of the change.
